Luz de juventud

Ralf Rothmann

Summary

In Luz de juventud, Julian is a twelve-year-old boy growing up in a mining community in 1960s Germany. Covering a few weeks in summer when Julian's emotionally exhausted and dissatisfied mother takes his little sister Sophie on vacation, this book details Julian's gradual social and sexual awakening amidst his parent's financial and marital problems. Through a combination of vibrant characters and subtle prose, Rothmann captures the ambiguous period of a boy approaching the end of childhood when adulthood is not within grasp.

El tiempo regalado

Un ensayo sobre la espera

Andrea Köhler

Summary

Life is weaved with a continuous thread of waiting and events. "Waiting is a hassle" begins the book, but it is also inevitable—it's something that we do constantly, whether waiting in line at the supermarket or for someone to respond to our texts. Waiting permits us to assess our past but also shape the future. There is no growth nor authentic development without waiting. In this essay, Andrea Köhler considers literary passages to show us how waiting is an essential part of human experience.

Contributor Bio

Andrea Köhler is a cultural correspondent for the Swiss daily newspaper Neue Züricher Zeitung and the recipient of the 2003 Berlin Book Critics Prize. She currently lives in New York City.

Las posesiones

Lluçia Ramis

Summary

The narrator of Las posesiones leaves Barcelona for Palma to spend some time with her family and care for her father, who recently retired and has trouble adapting to his new life. She runs into her old lover and mentor, and remembers a macabre event in which a successful businessman killed his wife and kid before committing suicide. Weaving together three storylines, this novel is about the things we lose when we grow up and how we learn from that.

Contributor Bio

Lluçia Ramis is a journalist and fiction writer. She studied Communication Science at the Autonomous University of Barcelona. She has published several short stories in anthologies and the following novels: Coses que et passen a Barcelona quan tens, 30 anys, and Egosurfing.

Perelmania

Los mejores relatos de humor de S. J. Perelman

Woody Allen, S. J. Perelman

Summary

S. J. Perelman is one of most original voices of North American humor writing. For more than 40 years, Perelman published the bulk of his hilarious stories in the New Yorker. For the first time in Spanish, this book is an extensive collection of his work where one can appreciate the evolution of his style and the progressive sophistication of his humor. It includes an exquisite semantic palette full of word games, double entendres, neologisms, free association, brilliant metaphors, and a style that has influenced some of the most important comics—such as Steve Martin, Woody Allen, and the Marx Brothers.

Contributor Bio

S. J. Perelman is a screenwriter and humorist. During his career, he wrote many short stories and essays for the New Yorker and wrote the scripts for Around the World in 80 Days and Monkey Business. Woody Allen is a director, screenwriter, actor, musician, humorist, and writer. He has won four Academy Awards. Since 1969, he has directed over 45 films.

Circo de Góriz. Ordesa

El corazón de la montaña

Francisco Hernández

Summary

There exists an innate soul in all human beings, and our tendency to express ourselves shows this as manifestations of our creativity. Consider writing, which is simply drawing symbols on a piece of paper. Any person that writes legibly is drawing and has the potential to improve their ability to draw, which connects us directly with profound feelings. Look at a small child enthusiastically drawing. This is the fuel of our creativity: enthusiasm and play. And through drawing, one can foster both.

Contributor Bio

El sur pide la palabra

El futuro de una Europa en crisis

Slavoj Žižek

Summary

Europe is threatened by a lazy and wasteful South. For the North, it's important to pay debts and guarantee returns on capital, even though that puts in danger democracy and the current state of well-being. Žižek y Horvat claim that the opposite occurs, that the South must take the floor and if the left is to recover initiative.

Contributor Bio

Slavoj Žižek is, according to Adam Kirch of the New Republic, "the most dangerous western philosopher." Influenced by Hegel and Lacan, Žižek is a cultural critic and neo-Marxist. He directs the Nirkbeck Institute for Humanities at the Universty of London. Srečko Horvat is a philosopher, author, and political activist. His writing has appeared in The Guardian, Al Jazeera II Manifesto, El Pais, and the New York Times.

Como si fuera esta noche la última vez

Antonio Ansón

Summary

Julia is a bored housewife with two children. One day, Julia begins her diary with a premonition: "Today I visited the sea for the final time." Suddenly, a call from Enzo, her boyfriend from university, and a small lump that appears in her chest change everything. Enzo tells her he has been in love with her for fifteen years. And that suspected bulge is a malignant tumor. With great sensitivity, Ansón produces a personal tribute to the intelligence and beauty of ordinary women.

Contributor Bio

Antonio Ansón has written Llamando a las puertas del cielo which won the Cálamo Prize in 2008, El limpiabotas de Daguerre and El arte de la fuga. He has also published books of poetry such as Pantys mortels and La misiva. He contributes to Clarín magazine with essays and interviews about contemporary photography.

Criaturas abisales

Marina Perezagua

Summary

In this book, the reader will meet The Impenetrable, a famous artist whose circus number corresponds with his nickname; an elderly and dignified lady that becomes a nightmare for her family or a woman capable of putting her lover in prison to keep him away from the world. These are some of the abysmal creatures in the first book by Marina Perezagua, a narrator capable of reinventing the fantasy genre with an imagination as fascinating as her writing.

Contributor Bio

Los villanos de la nación

Javier Marías

Summary

The powerful and their abuses, the corrupt and those they corrupt, the insane that commit crimes in name of all sorts of causes—some of the villains against which Jose Marías rallies in this anthology of his best social and political pieces. The 84 articles show that Marías will not be quiet against the injustices of governments and politicians under any banner. Written in different tones and registers, but always with an exuberant energy, these essays demonstrate one of the world's best critics.

Contributor Bio

Rumbo al mar blanco

Malcolm Lowry

Summary

In June 1944, Malcolm Lowry saved from the flames the work that would be his celebrated novel, Bajo el volcán. He believed that Rumbo al mar blanco, the manuscript he had worked on relentlessly, had been lost in the same fire. But now, more than 50 years later, it is found. Rumbo al mar blanco is an imposing novel and a fight between the demons and ideological doubts of the author. It is introspective and epic, and it offers us insight into the politics of the interwar years as it describes a young writer who believes that both his book and life have already been written by a Norwegian novelist.

Contributor Bio

Malcolm Lowry is a poet and novelist. He has a degree from the University of Cambridge. During much of his life, he wrote screenplays in Hollywood. His novel Bajo el volcán is widely considered one of the greatest novels of the 20th century

Cómo comportarse en la multitud

Una novela

Camille Bordas

Summary

Isidore Mazal has just reached adolescence, is the youngest of six siblings, and lives in a small French village. His siblings are geniuses: doctors, musicians, and novelists in the making. Isidore is not a genius, but he perceives how his family members cope with pain and he is probably the only one able to help. His splendid empathy, combined with a profound fury, creates a story of melancholy and humor that reaches a heart-wrenching end.

Contributor Bio

Los casos de Chelo Gómez

Orlando Ortiz

Summary

Chelo Gómez is a smart young girl in fourth grade who wants to emulate her hero, the immortal Sherlock Holmes who solved cases by grinding them up in his mind. Her cases are just as tricky as his: Are there really ghosts in the haunted mansion? Who stole Medardo's journals? While the adults squeeze their brains, ideas ignite like bulbs in Chelo's restless head. She's not always right at the beginning, but the criminals always end up in her clutches. Each case is an adventure full of surprises that readers will enjoy well past the final word.

Contributor Bio

Rubén Poplawsky

Summary

What role does sickness play in life? With ample experience as a homeopath, Dr. Poplawsky explains the different ways to accept and reject the language of the soul: fear, rage, sadness, happiness. He demonstrates cases of panic attacks and argues that people tend to try to hide their emotions. This book will help you better understand why some people become sick and how to free the emotions that provoke a physical and mental sickness.

York

Laura Ruby

Summary

In the 19th century of an alternate universe New York, the Morningstarr twins—brilliant inventors who created steampunk technology and iconic architecture—disappeared and left a puzzle, known as the Old York Cipher. They bequeathed a large sum of money to their employee, Ms. Ava O'Neal, as well as the building that the modern-day Biedermann twins Theo and Tess, and their friend Jamie, are trying to save. Unsure whom to trust and facing danger, Theo, Tess, and Jaime must solve the cipher if they want to save New York.
