Operación Masacre

Rodolfo Walsh

Summary

In Argentina in 1956, a failed coup against the military government that removed Juan Perón from office a year before triggered a clandestine operation designed to eliminate people opposed to the regime. In a garbage dump on the outskirts of the capital, a group of civilians were shot before martial law was decreed. In the weeks that followed, a rumor spread throughout the city that some of them had survived. Walsh managed to find one of these alleged survivors, and after listening to his testimony began a dangerous and obsessive investigation to find the truth.

Contributor Bio

Rodolfo Walsh was an Argentine writer and journalist who was disappeared in 1977 by the Argentine military dictatorship. He was one of the first Latin American writers to use novelistic techniques in journalism. His nonfiction works include Operación Masacre and ¿Quién mató a Rosendo?

Historias reales

Helen Garner, Cruz Rodríguez Juiz

Summary

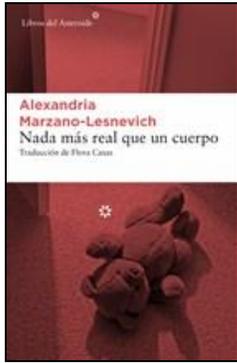

Helen Garner visits a morgue and takes a cruise on a Russian ship. She gets fired for teaching her students about sex and witnesses a birth and a wedding. She attends a school dance and a gun show. She writes about dreaming, about turning fifty, and the uproar caused by one of her books. Garner lives and observes; she looks with intelligence and compassion. Her nonfiction stories, always entertaining and passionate, span the 40 years of her career.

Contributor Bio

Helen Garner is an Australian writer. Her first novel, Monkey Grip, came out in 1977, won the 1978 National Book Council Award, and was adapted for film in 1981. Since then, she has published novels, short stories, essays, and feature journalism. In 2006, Garner received the inaugural Melbourne Prize for Literature.

Nada más real que un cuerpo

Alexandria Marzano-Lesnevich, Flora Casas

Summary

Alexandria Marzano-Lesnevich is a young law student who works in a law firm specialized in representing death-row inmates when she is entrusted with the defense of a convicted and confessed pedophile. Despite being staunchly anti-death penalty, she is overcome with a rage that demands his death. Shocked by her own feelings, she digs deeper and deeper into the case, and as she unveils the truth her familiarity with some of the facts fills her with a restlessness that leads her to unearth the dark family secrets that are conditioning her perception of the case.

Contributor Bio

Alexandria Marzano-Lesnevich is a 2014 National Endowment for the Arts fellow, the recipient of a Rona Jaffe Award, and a two-time fellow at both MacDowell and Yaddo. Her essays appear in The New York Times and WAVEFORM: Twenty-first Century Essays by Women. She now teaches at GrubStreet and at Harvard's Kennedy School of Government.

Mi planta de naranja lima

José Mauro de Vasconcelos, Carlos Manzano

Summary

Meet Zezé: Brazil's naughtiest and most lovable boy, his talent for mischief is matched only by his great kindness. When he grows up he wants to be a "poet with a bowtie," but for now he entertains himself playing pranks on the residents of his family's poor Rio de Janeiro neighborhood and inventing friends to play with. That is, until he meets a real friend, and his life begins to change...

Contributor Bio

José Mauro de Vasconcelos was a Brazilian writer. After his literary debut in 1945 with Banana branca, he combined his writing with a film career as both an actor and as a screenwriter. His work draws from Brazil's orally transmitted popular narratives and is characterized by respect for nature and compassion towards the most disadvantaged. He wrote about twenty novels, including Coração de vidro and O veleiro de cristal.

Lejos del Tíbet

Su vida y pensamiento explicados a Maria Teresa Pous Mas

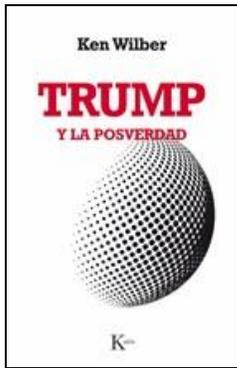

Maria Teresa Pous Mas, Thubten Wangchen

Summary

The story of the venerable lama Thubten Wangchen's life begins with his flight from his native village in Tibet and follows him on a dangerous journey through the mountains, as a beggar in Kathmandu, and his spiritual life and studies in the personal monastery of the Dalai Lama in Dharamsala, India. The book is also a welcoming invitation to Buddhist philosophy and practice with a special emphasis on helping others and remaining strong in the context of the Tibetan exile.

Contributor Bio

María Teresa Pous Mas holds a degree in mindfulness from the University of Zaragoza. Thubten Wangchen is a Tibetan lama. He has headed the Casa del Tibet in Barcelona since 1994 and is an active member of the Tibetan Parliament in Exile.

Trump y la posverdad

Ken Wilber

Summary

Our world today is a convulsive one—nationalist and extremist political forces are endangering decades of progress in Europe, Turkey, Russia, China, and the United States, with the election of Donald Trump. In this provocative book, philosopher Ken Wilber analyzes the failure of the progressive vanguard, the postmodern elite, and explains—despite everything—why there's still cause for hope.

Contributor Bio

Ken Wilber is the founder of the Integral Institute and the cofounder of Integral Life. He is the author of more than 20 books, including The Religion of Tomorrow and A Theory of Everything.

Algunas formas de amor

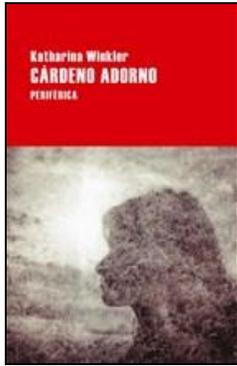

Charlotte Mew

Summary

Mythical turn-of-the-century writer Charlotte Mew's stories on the theme of love are available in Spanish for the first time. Lost in emotional and social labyrinths, Mew's characters seem condemned to remain trapped—or if they manage to escape, to find themselves transported to the other side of existence.

Contributor Bio

Charlotte Mew was a turn-of-the-century British poet and writer. Much of her work has been published posthumously.

Cárdeno adorno

Katharina Winkler

Summary

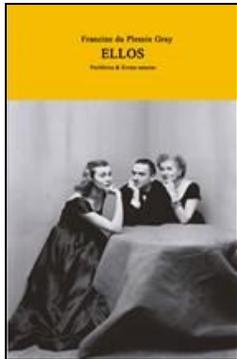

Filiz's story, being born into a gaggle of siblings, is the story of many women. They sleep outdoors, tend to their family's lambs, and take care of each other while their mother protects them from their father. With great delicacy, Katharina Winkler portrays women's struggles to survive their tormentors—who are often their own fathers, husbands, and brothers—in the face of patriarchal violence centered on misinterpretations of the meaning of love, religion, and honor.

Contributor Bio

Katharina Winkler is an Austrian writer. She earned the 2017 Prix du Premier Roman Étranger for Blue Jewellery, which is her first novel.

El niño perdido

Thomas Wolfe

Summary

It's 1904, the St. Louis World's Fair is in full swing, and the Wolfe family has traveled from Asheville to offer lodging for their neighbors visiting the fair. The family is soon consumed with the search for its lost son, a 12-year-old of extraordinary sensitivity and maturity. Against the backdrop of provincial America, Thomas Wolfe constructs a novel as beautiful as it is intense and evocative.

Contributor Bio

Thomas Wolfe was an American author of the early 20th century. His work was highly influential; William Faulkner called him the best writer of his generation, and Sinclair Lewis quoted him in his Nobel Prize acceptance speech. His influence can also be seen in writers of the Beat Generation and in the work of authors such as Philip Roth and Gordon Lish.

No tan incendiario

Marta Sanz

Summary

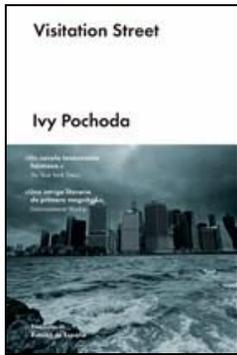

The thoughts contained in this book are a response to uncertainty and a certain sense of malaise. They're an oxymoron: these texts stem from the radical conviction that literature hardly matters to anyone anymore—but they also discuss literature from at once its temple, its walled garden, its lost paradise.

Contributor Bio

Marta Sanz is a Spanish writer. Her books include Susana y los viejos, Animales domésticos, and Los mejores tiempos, for which she received an El Ojo Crítico award.

Pragmatismo

William James

Summary

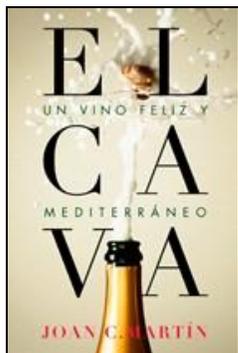

For William James, pragmatism is the solution to the conflict between the demands of science and religion. He defends the relevance of temperament in each individual's adoption of a philosophy, and he understands the dispute between rationalists and empiricists as a clash of temperaments. Pragmatism is a moral commitment to a way of understanding the world that trusts that the involvement of intelligence and agents is real, and that our theories introduce new elements and modify the course of the future.

Contributor Bio

William James was a preeminent classical pragmatist philosopher alongside Charles Sanders Peirce and John Dewey. This school of thought originated in the US at the turn of the 20th century and is very popular today.

Consejos para los artistas de los artistas

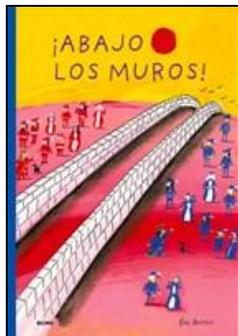

James Cahill

Summary

Based upon advice from a huge roster of artists, dealers and curators; and encompassing every stage of an artist's life—from early works, to debut shows and mid and late-career—this book answers all the key questions that every artist has at some point asked themselves. Do you need a studio or a dealer, and how do you find one? Are artists too competitive? How do they come up with ideas, and what is the point of the private view? Does financial success—or the lack of it—change an artist?

Contributor Bio

James Cahill is a writer and his work has appeared in publications including Apollo, The Burlington Magazine, Elephant, frieze, the London Review of Books, the Times Literary Supplement and The White Review. He has curated exhibitions at the Museum of Classical Archaeology, Cambridge, and King's College London.

Abajo los muros

Eric Battut

Summary

Red to one side! Blue to the other! Princes Gastón and Gedeón are separating the kingdom to build two solid walls. This border prohibits all contact between the inhabitants of both sides. However, the children are not willing to accept that their family and friends are divided, and thanks to them they find a solution to meet again. A beautiful story with a moral for the current world: with the stones of the wall, bridges can be built.

Contributor Bio

Eric Battut is a French illustrator and author. He studied illustration in Lyon after having spent time studying economics and law. He illustrates for others as well as for his own books.

Un mundo soñado. ¿Redibujamos el mundo?

Nathalie Novi, Daniel Picouly

Kiss

Vida, canciones, simbología, conciertos clave y discografía

Eloy Pérez Ladaga

Summary

Ambiguity, makeup, stage tricks, and classic, unadorned hard rock songs are the weapons Kiss used to capture the attention of millions of fans around the world. This New York-based band is still at it, having passed through plenty of phases along the way—but their live shows are still incredible.

Pop Art

Flavia Frigeri

Summary

With its bold imagery and ironic spirit, pop art trespasses the traditional boundaries separating high and low culture. This introduction spans from post-war America and Britain to its fascinating global rise in the 1960s. The work of well-known artists, such as Andy Warhol and Richard Hamilton, are set in dialogue with Ushio Shinohara, Marisol and Marta Minujín.

Contributor Bio

Flavia Frigeri is an art historian and curator and a Teaching Fellow at the University College in London. She co-curated the internationally acclaimed exhibition 'The World Goes Pop' at Tate Modern in 2015.

Momentos trascendentales en el arte

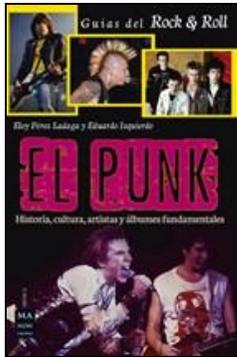

Lee Cheshire

Summary

This book describes fifty pivotal moments — some famous, others unfamiliar — from the Renaissance to the present day. Vivid, colorful vignettes capture the excitement of their times. Lee Cheshire's storytelling approach is both entertaining and easy to remember. He celebrates artistic ingenuity and collaboration, but does not shy away from the arguments, fights and lawsuits that have dogged art's often-turbulent course. A reference section includes an invaluable glossary of art terms.

Contributor Bio

Lee Cheshire is a Senior Editor and Copywriter at Tate. He also contributes to Tate magazine, and edited a special magazine marking the opening of the extension to Tate Modern. He is also the author of London in Paint, a survey of painting in London since the 17th century.

El punk

Historia, cultura, artistas y álbumes fundamentales

Eduardo Izquierdo, Eloy Pérez Ladaga

Summary

Punk wouldn't be what it is without bands like the Stooges, the Clash, the Sex Pistols, Fugazi, and so many others. Started as a countercultural movement, punk quickly became a signifier of identity for young people who saw in its "no future" ethos a place of refuge during difficult times.

Contributor Bio

Eduardo Izquierdo is a Spanish music writer and the codirector of Producciones Acaraperro. His work has appeared in Ruta66, Mundo Sonoro, and Efe Eme, and he is the author of Country Rock. Eloy Pérez Ladaga is a Spanish journalist and music critic. His work has appeared in Rocks, Mundo Sonoro, and Ruta66. This is his fourth book.

La Daga

Sebastián Elesgaray

Summary

The Suelos are on the verge of civil war between the capital and the territories. But there's a dagger that could solve everything, and the search for it will lead an incredible cast of characters into the void and give them hope in the face of imminent war. It could end in revenge, victory, or death—or maybe all of those at once.

Contributor Bio

Sebastián Elesgaray is an Argentinian author. His books include Los días de Nicolás, Trece cuentos inconexos, and Tierra de nadie.
